

The Order

At first the Order was believed to be a terrorist organization. But during the first Nomad War their real aims were revealed. The Order was established by Caspar Orillion, a liberty top-agent, who discovered the Nomads, to fight for the survival of mankind. They secretly built an army against the Nomads and operated in the underground, because it was hard to keep the Nomad infestation out of their ranks. Today, the Order is a respected organisation and there are many, who want to fight in their ranks. The Order and their allies the Monkeys and the Robots fight against any Nomad ship showing up in the colonies.
